1. Attached hereto is a proposed letter to 2. R&D contracts ordinarily contemplate a presentation to the Government by the prime contractor of his arrangements with subcontractors with regard to the form and substance thereof. The Contracting Officer's approval should be dependent on the basis of an adequate presentation. Therefore, the applicable statements made in the proposed letter are suggestive since further details a be available elsewhere. 3. The elimination of the subcontract from the enumerated costs for the purpose of computing the fixed foe is assumed to be correct, though not necessarily under appropriate circumstances. 4. You may wish to alert the prime contractor, either formally or informally, as to his responsibility to include audit rights in its subcontract (Article 10, R.D3).	Office of	the General Counsel	23 March 1949
2. R&D contracts ordinarily contemplate a presentation to the Government by the prime contractor of his arrangements with subcontractors with regard the form and substance thereof. The Contracting Officer's approval should be dependent on the basis of an adequate presentation. Therefore, the applicable statements made in the proposed letter are suggestive since further details a be available elsewhere. 3. The elimination of the subcontract from the enumerated costs for the purpose of computing the fixed fee is assumed to be correct, though not necessarily under appropriate circumstances. 4. You may wish to alert the prime contractor, either formally or informally, as to his responsibility to include audit rights in its subcontract			on the b
purpose of computing the fixed fee is assumed to be correct, though not necessarily under appropriate circumstances. h. You may wish to alert the prime contractor, either formally or informally, as to his responsibility to include audit rights in its subcontract	by the prime c	ontractor of his arrangements with	subcontractors with regar formally, as to his responsibility to include audit rights in its subcontract	dependent on t	ubstance thereof. The Contracting he basis of an adequate presentation e in the proposed letter are sugges	Officer's approval should on. Therefore, the application dependent on to statements mad be available e 3. The e purpose of com	ubstance thereof. The Contracting he basis of an adequate presentation in the proposed letter are suggestlesswhere. Limination of the subcontract from puting the fixed fee is assumed to	Officer's approval should on. Therefore, the applicative since further detail the enumerated costs for

This document may contain attorney-client/attorney work-product privileged information

25 YEAR RE-REVIEW

STAT